

LAW OF MONGOLIA ON CURRENCY SETTLEMENTS

Chapter One General Provisions

Article 1. Purpose of this law

The purpose of this law is to define the powers of the Government bodies in charge of currency settlement, to regulate exchange controls for currency circulation by business entities, organisations and citizens and to establish mechanisms to sustain the Mongolian currency exchange rate.

Article 2. Legislation on currency settlements

1. The legislation on currency settlements is comprised of the Constitution of Mongolia, this law, and other relevant legislation which is consistent with those laws.
2. If an international treaty to which Mongolia is a party is inconsistent with this law, then the provisions of the international treaty shall prevail.

Article 3. Definitions

1. "Currency" includes the national currency of Mongolia, foreign currencies, gold currencies, precious reserves and accounting units used as payment in international commerce.
2. "National currency of Mongolia" means the togrog, that is the solvent currency of Mongolia, bonds in international transactions and other instruments of payment expressed in togrogs.
3. "Foreign currencies" include solvent foreign currencies in circulation, bonds, and instruments of payment expressed in foreign currencies and widely used in international transactions. Foreign currencies shall be internationally accepted and divided into two categories: freely convertible and non-convertible.
4. "Gold currency" means purified gold traded on the international market held in international financial centres to be sold as foreign currency.
5. "Precious reserves" means precious stones and metals similar to gold currency.
6. "Purified gold" means gold which is not sold as foreign currency but which has been purified to add to the quality of gold.
7. Permanent residents involved in currency settlements (hereinafter referred to as "permanent residents") shall be:
 - 1) individuals who permanently reside in Mongolia and persons who are permanent residents of Mongolia but who are resident in a foreign country for no more than 183 days;
 - 2) legal persons in Mongolia established in accordance with the legislation of Mongolia which have branches and representative offices in foreign countries; and
 - 3) Mongolian legations in foreign countries.
8. Provisional residents involved in currency settlements (hereinafter referred to as "provisional residents") shall be:
 - 1) individuals who reside permanently outside of Mongolia, and who are resident in Mongolia for no more than 183 days;

- 2) legal persons established in accordance with the legislation of a foreign country which have branches and representative offices in Mongolia; and
 - 3) foreign legations and international organisations which have branches or representative offices in Mongolia.

Article 4. Outgoing currency reserves of Mongolia

1. The outgoing currency reserves of Mongolia in the ownership of commercial banks and competent State bodies shall consist of:
 - 1) gold currency held in foreign banks and financial institutions;
 - 2) foreign currencies which are freely convertible;
 - 3) bonds which are payable and saleable in foreign bond markets; and
 - 4) any other documents which are used internationally as currency reserves, excluding those set out in sub-paragraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.
2. The items set out in paragraph 1 of this article shall be the outgoing currency reserves of the competent State bodies.
3. Funds deposited and loans granted by foreign countries shall be excluded from the calculation of the total sum of outgoing currency reserves owned by Mongolia or the competent State bodies.

Article 5. The currency market and the exchange rate in Mongolia

1. The currency market of Mongolia is a currency market which operates on the basis of supply and demand and which consists of the currency exchange activities of the authorised banks, exchanges and brokerage companies.
2. The Bank of Mongolia shall fix and advise the exchange rate of the togrog in relation to currencies which are bought and sold on the currency market by commercial banks on a comparative basis with a stable foreign currency used in foreign commerce by a majority of countries.
3. An increase or decrease in the togrog exchange rate by 5 percent or more from the previous day shall be brought to the attention of the Prime Minister of Mongolia. This shall not prevent the Governor of the Bank of Mongolia from increasing or decreasing the togrog rate even though the Prime Minister does not agree to a rate adjustment.
4. A commercial bank shall establish its own exchange rate for buying and selling currencies on the basis of market demand.
5. The rate fixed by the Bank of Mongolia shall be used in the State budget and for customs purposes.

Chapter Two

Powers of State Bodies With Respect to Currency Settlements

Article 6. The powers of the State Ih Hural

The State Ih Hural shall have the following powers in relation to currency settlements:
